Viking Books, 2004. Hard cover. Book Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. New in new dust jacket. Glued binding. Paper over boards. With dust jacket. 305 p. Audience: General/trade. From Booklist More than anything, freelance journalist Olivia Joules wants to write serious news stories, but because of her "vivid" imagination, Olivia instead finds herself relegated by her editors to the style section. While in Miami covering the launch of a new face cream, Olivia meets mysterious, sexy Pierre Feramo, the scientist responsible for developing the cream, and once again Olivia's imagination takes over. Is Pierre really a cosmetics-developing, movie-producing international playboy or could he be an al-Qaeda agent in disguise? Olivia, who knows a thing or two about changing one's identity, can't decide if her suspicions about Pierre are correct or merely a product of her fertile imagination. What is even worse is that if Olivia turns out to be right about Pierre, it means she might be falling in love with a terrorist! The author of the phenomenally popular Bridget Jones's Diary (1998) gifts readers with another endearing, irrepressible heroine, who, armed with her lists and survival kit, discovers in this deliciously fun novel that she has a natural talent for spying. Fielding's latest has all the ingredients of a good thriller--exotic locales, a resourceful heroine, intrigue, and a touch of sexy romance--but the book is also electric with Fielding's wry wit, and the combination is simply delightful. John Charles Copyright American Library Association. All rights reserved Time Fielding is a wonderful comic novelist. Nick Hornby Helen Fielding is one of the funniest writers alive. The Independent Recklessly cosmopolitan, jet-setting, worldly, adventurous-a 340 page romp. The Observer Very addictive. Fielding s comic talent lies in her adorable observations.This is quintessential Fielding. The New York Times Book Review How can...
