Not illustrated. 1867 Excerpt: . . . the Christian toward entire sanctification there is progression; the actual attainment of entire sanctification is instantaneous; just as the approach toward regeneration is progressive, while the actually being regenerated is instantaneous. But how is this present actual state of sanctification to be realized Says the inquirer, I have been growing in grace. I have been increasing in the knowledge and love of God and the Savior, and in the fruits of the Spirit. Now I wish to become a complete, s full, a perfect Christian. My heart is awakened to the importance and desirableness of a full salvation. How can I attain it The thing to be reached is perfect love, perfect faith, perfect rest in God. The condition of such a blessing is perfect devotion, a perfect consecration, a full surrender of our souls and bodies, our all to the keeping of Christ and the service of God. The essential and indispensable act on our part is an act of definite, conscious consecration; a giving up of ourselves to God, a complete surrender of soul and body; gifts, talents, possessions, all offered as a living, a whole sacrifice to God--a purpose to live for God, to devote to his service and glory ourselves and our all--a complete committing of the keeping of our souls and bodies and all our interests to the blessed Savior for time and eternity. While the condition of full salvation is full consecration, the medium through which we receive the full...
