Excerpt from The Log of a Cowboy: A Narrative of the Old Trail Days Another Vivid recollection of those boyhood days in Georgia was the return of my father from the army. The news of Lee s surrender had reached us, and all of us watched for his coming. Though he was long delayed, when at last he did come rid ing home on a swallow-marked brown mule, he was a conquering hero to us children. We had never owned a horse, and he assured us that the animal was his own, and by turns set us on the tired mule s back. He explained to mother and us children how, though he was an infantryman, he came into possession of the animal. Now, however, with my mature years and knowledge of brands, I regret to state that the mule had not been condemned and was in the U. S. Brand. A story which Priest, The Rebel, once told me throws some light on the matter; he asserted that all good soldiers would steal. Can you take the city of St. Louis? Was asked of General Price. I don t know as I can take it, replied the general to his consulting supe riors, but if you will give me Louisiana troops, I ll agree to steal it.
