Quercus. 1 Paperback(s), 2013. soft. Book Condition: New. On the night of March 28, 1942, in one of the most audacious raids of World War II, 600 British commandos and seamen set out across the English Channel in a flotilla bound for occupied France. They were to destroy the dry dock built for the ocean liner Normandiethe only Atlantic dock big enough to service Germany's much-feared battleship Tirpitzby rigging the destroyer Campbeltown as a floating bomb and ramming the dock's sea gate, while commandos went ashore to blow up other key targets. The raid was a success, but at a terrible cost: more than half the men were killed or captured, and only a handful of boats returned. Robert Lyman's gripping account is filled with quotes and first-person descriptions. As seaman Ralph Batteson recalled: "I saw men burn alive in the petrol that covered the surface, while others sank in bloody foam as they succumbed to their wounds. With the screams of the dying ringing above the noise of gunfire, and the fierce glare of the flames lighting up the harbour, it was a scene from the worst of nightmares. What made it different was that we ourselves were inside the nightmare." 344.
