The people of Plain, as shown in the foregoing record, have pursued the even tenor of their way, undisturbed by feuds within their territory. The tax for building a plank road, ter on Roads, Navigation, etc. When the clarion notes of war rang out in April, 1861, patriotism was not sleeping in Plain, for old men as well as young responded to the summons of the Republics President, and left home and friends to battle for the Union. The roster and record of the soldiers of Plain are given in the Military chapter. It is in itself a history of which the, people of this division of the county may well be caused some commotion, as related in the chap- proud. In other chapters of general history references are made to this township; while, in the pages devoted to biography, a large number of family sketches are given. HIS division of the county was surveyed about the time the surveyors went through Bloom and Liberty. The population, in 1840, was only 199, increased, by 1850, to 403; by 1860, to 833; by 1870, to 1, 069; by 1880, to 1, 434; and by 1890, to 2, 328.
