Excerpt from The Sabbath Shulammitte in the Song of Songs exclaimed: Look not upon me that I am swarthy, for the sun has tanned me. Those words rose to my mind when I decided to write the following essay on The Sabbath. This first and most sacred Institution of the Jewish nation has, in the course of history, passed through so many transmigrations, and has received so many misinterpretations both by religious fanatics and heretics, that its true meaning and merits are no longer appreciated, and the people can no longer derive from this glorious and ancient Institution the benefits and blessings it was supposed to confer upon them. I therefore cherish the hope that the following sketch will serve some useful purpose, will at least induce some of its readers to devote to this subject a few moments of serious thought. It is gratifying to state that there are at the present moment two strong movements, which strive to restore to the Sabbath its ancient, its original, dignity and influence. One is known by the name of Oneg Sabbath, with its headquarters...
