Excerpt from Library of the Theological Seminary: Princeton New Jersey Long ago there was no Christmas day in the world. The years came and went, and some days were brighter than others but not one of those bright days was Christmas day. Do you wonder why that was? It was because Jesus Christ had not come to earth. But one year He did come, and was born a little baby in Bethlehem, and now all over the world we keep Christmas day as one of the gladdest days in all the year, because it takes our thoughts back to the time when Jesus Christ was born.
