Random House USA Inc, United States, 2002. Paperback. Condition: New. Reprint. Language: English . Brand New Book. From Michael Bedard and two-time Caldecott Medal-winning illustrator Barbara Cooney comes a story about American poet Emily Dickinson and the young girl who befriends her. What if your neighbor were the reclusive poet Emily Dickinson? And what if one day she sent a letter inviting your mother to pay her a visit? A little girl who lives across the street from the mysterious Emily gets a chance to meet the poet when her mother goes to play the piano for her. There, the girl sneaks a gift up to Emily, who listens from the landing, and in return, Emily gives the girl a precious gift of her own--the gift of poetry. This fictionalized encounter . . . is, like a Dickinson sonnet, a quiet gem: unassuming upon first glance, it is in fact deeply lustrous, with new facets becoming apparent the longer one looks. --Publishers Weekly In this imaginative and unusual picture book . . . the language of the text is lyrical . . . The illustrations convey a sense of place and time long ago, from drawing rooms to clothing. This is a picture book to read aloud and share. [Readers] will find that Bedard s charming story demystifies the person and offers some understanding of her odd behavior. --School Library Journal Two time Caldecott award winning illustrator Barbara Cooney s richly detailed oil paintings enhance the moving story of Dickinson s extraordinary private life. --Children s Literature.
