General Accounting Office, 2003 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)52875773 Subject: Postal service -- California -- Employees. Excerpt: . . . who are involuntarily separated from the Service will be eligible for severance pay. The Service has experienced financial problems in recent years that have been exacerbated by the recent economic slowdown and the use of mail to transmit anthrax. In April 2001, we placed the Services transformation efforts and long-term outlook on our high-risk list. We included the Service on our high-risk list to focus attention on the dilemmas facing the Service before the situation escalates into a crisis in which the options for action may be more limited and costly. While the Service recently developed a transformation plan to address its financial difficulties and has been able to cut costs, it has a significant amount of fixed costs due to its vast infrastructure that are difficult to cut in the short term. Rationalizing the Services infrastructure will be key as it strives to ameliorate its fiscal situation. This means that the Service may have to close or consolidate certain retail, mail processing, and administrative facilities if necessary to cut costs and improve performance. These closures and consolidations will undoubtedly lead to public concerns about the economic effects such actions will have on communities and employees. The Service is weighing these difficult issues as it considers whether to close the San Mateo IT Center. To describe the process that the Service is following to decide whether to Scope and close the San Mateo IT Center and consolidate its functions into other Methodology postal IT centers, we interviewed postal managers and reviewed available supporting reports and documents. We reviewed the Services...
