Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 82: April 8, 1920 On every side they were engaged in deadly combat, yet without noise I could hear, and human soldiers never fought so resolutely. I watched a couple that were fast in each other's embraces, in a little sunny valley amid the chips, now, at noon-day, prepared to fight until the sun went down or life went out. The smaller red champion had fastened himself like a vice to his adversary's front, and through all the tumbings on that field, never for an instant ceased to gnaw at one of his feelers near the root, having already caused the other to go by the board; while the stronger black one dashed him from side to side, and, as I saw on looking nearer, had already divested him of several of his members. They fought with more pertinacity than bull-dogs. Neither manifested the least disposition to retreat. It was evident that their battle cry was - conquer or die. In the meanwhile there came along a single red ant on the hill side of this valley, evidently full of excitement, who either had despatched his foe or had not yet taken part in the battle; probably the latter, for he had lost none of his limbs; whose mother had charged him to return with his Shield or upon it. Or perchance he was some Achilles, who had nourished his wrath apart, and had now come to avenge or rescue his Patroclus. He saw this unequal contest from afar - for the blacks were nearly twice the size of the red - he drew near with rapid pace, till, he stood on his guard...
