By Ernie Zerenner

Marketplace Books. Paperback. Condition: New. 256 pages. Dimensions: 8.8in. x 6.0in. x 0.7in. How many stock positions have you entered after meticulous analysis only to have the stock move in the opposite direction that you anticipated? It has happened to every trader: the stock that got away. Now you can prevent it from happening again. The secret to minimizing your risk and meeting your goals is the use of protective strategies you will find in this easy-to-use guide. Using married puts and collar spreads, you will learn how to profit from growth stocks in an expanding market while at the same time limit the potential loss of capital from an unforeseen drop in the price of the stock. Both strategies allow investors to protect their investments and preserve hard-earned capital using simple options trades. This practical guidebook, rich with illustrations and clear, real world examples, gives helps you: Understand how to insure your portfolio against loss. Define your maximum loss possible from your stock investments. Learn how to pick the best investments with downside protection. Gain management techniques to increase returns from a position of safety. Introduce yourself to the best tools to find, compare, and analyze your investments. If you...
