Cosmophilia (Paperback)

By Rahat Kurd

Talon Books, Canada, Canada, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Cosmophilia means love of ornament. These poems might be thought of as elaborations - deliberate acts of imagination - that ornament the objects or events that inspired their creation, by emphasizing their complexity. The central poems are drawn from the poet's memories of time spent with her family in Kashmir and, in particular, from contemplations of traditional Kashmiri handicrafts. Other poems in this collection draw on multiple cultural and artistic sources, family history, and Islamic imagery and language, and are elaborations on the author's reflections on living and walking in Vancouver through the end of a marriage. The poet's lyrical, emotionally powerful, narrative style engages cultural complexity by weaving traditional religious and political language and imagery into contemporary contexts. Some poems explore ideas of how the body refracts from historical trauma, including division of the state of Kashmir during the 1949 partition of Indian and Pakistan, as well as the loss of Arabic and non-Arabic scripts in Urdu and the consequent removal of language and memory embodied in language. Additionally there is a foregrounding of thematically interlinked schisms between religion and secularism, and the...
