*Thorough guideline! Its this type of good read. It is really simplistic but shocks from the 50 percent from the publication. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

CARBON CONFLICTS AND FOREST LANDSCAPES IN AFRICA PATHWAYS TO SUSTAINABILITY SERIES

Routledge. Paperback. Condition: New. 224 pages. The last decade has seen a wave of forest carbon projects across the world, designed to conserve and enhance forest carbon stocks with the aim of reducing carbon emissions from deforestation and offsetting emissions elsewhere. Exploring a set of new empirical case studies from Africa, this book examines the effectiveness of these projects, offset arrangements and trade in carbon credits. Situating forest carbon policies in the context of a more general move to address environmental problems by attaching market values to nature and ecosystems, the authors analyse the effects of this commoditisation of the natural environment. They examine how forest carbon projects interact with the particular histories of forest landscapes and impact on local forest users. The book brings together diverse original case studies from across Africa, covering a wide range of national political-economic contexts with different relationships between the state and markets. By examining these cases in a comparative framework and situating them within an understanding of the unfolding national, regional and global institutional arrangements shaping forest carbon commoditisation, the book provides a rich and compelling account of how and why carbon conflicts are emerging, and how they might be avoided in future. This book will be of interest to students of development studies, environmental sciences, geography, economics and anthropology, as well as practitioners and policy makers. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Paperback.
