Excerpt from Commissions, State Aid, and State Agencies: Manual of Library Economy, Number XXVII An enlarged stock of moral ideas or ideals in any part of the commonwealth is an enrichment for the whole state. An impoverishment of such ideas in any community makes the whole state poorer. The people of every part of the commonwealth have to bear the expense of disease, de generacy, pauperism and crime that may be propagated by conditions in some distant, obscure, and neglected com munity. If the library is a factor making for mental and moral health, then it is of concern to everybody in the state, and not merely to the people of a particular com munity, that there shall be a library in that community. The state, in propagating libraries, is looking aft?r its own essential well-being. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
