Additionally, PBGC officials stated that data indicated that it was able to fill 65 percent of its vacancies in fiscal year 2007 across all occupations within 45 days of the close of the announcement of the job vacancy, 12 exceeding OPMs government standard of 60 percent for that year. However, PBGC officials emphasized that the 45-day hiring model, which includes data across all occupations, can hide the corporations inability to fill certain key positions. PBGC officials acknowledged that the corporation was generally able to hire people for most of its key occupations, but they stated they have had difficulty filling certain positions like the chief financial officer, senior financial analyst, systems accountant, and procurement attorney. To address this difficulty, PBGC officials stated that the corporation has left some positions unfilled and on occasion has hired individuals who required in-house training. From fiscal year 2000 to 2007, PBGC retained staff at rates similar to the PBGCs Overall Attrition rest of the federal government for the corporations key occupations. Rate Is Similar to Those of PBGCs overall average attrition rate was about 6 percent for these Other Federal Agencies, occupations, roughly equal to that of other federal agencies over that but Rates Differ for 14 period ( see fig. 1 ). For example, for occupations like attorneys and Certain Key Occupations information technology specialists, the attrition rates were similar to those of other federal executive branch agencies. Likewise, the attrition rates for PBGCs executives were similar to those of other federal executive branch agencies. Our analysis also found that...
