

Food in postcolonial and migrant literatures. La nourriture dans les littératures postcoloniales et migrantes

By Michela Canepari

Peter Lang Jan 2012, 2012. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. 226x154x27 mm. Neuware - This book is a collection of articles dealing with various aspects of postcolonial and migrant literatures. In particular, the texts focus on the topic of food and its importance in these literatures and the communities they stem from. The aim is to investigate the relationship between food and identity in postcolonial contexts, focussing in particular on the way food has often become an effective ally in the struggle for recognition of former colonised countries around the world. In their essays, the authors show that what men eat reflects the history of a people, the stages of its development, the influences it has undergone and the memories it has retained. The approaches to the selected literary texts are multiple and bring together different methodologies. The subject matter is analysed from cultural, anthropological and linguistic perspectives, in an attempt to assess whether the strategies adopted by various nations during their colonial and postcolonial experience might actually share a common core. Ce volume est un mélange de textes qui interpellent différents aspects de ce que la critique a convenu d'appeler les ' Littératures postcoloniales et migrantes '. Les textes s'interrogent,...
