REDEFINING BLACK POWER: REFLECTIONS ON THE STATE OF BLACK AMERICA (PAPERBACK)*DOWNLOAD

City Lights Books, United States, 2012. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. The Obama presidency represented a major milestone in African American history. The very presence of a black First Family had a profound cultural impact, but did the Obama White House actually address any of the ongoing issues faced by Black America? Did communities of color organized sufficiently to voice their concerns? How could lessons learned from past freedom struggles guide the organizing that s needed to meet today s opportunities and challenges? To explore these questions in depth, international journalist Joanne Griffith traveled the country to interview black intellectuals, activists, authors, and educators, including former advisor to former President Obama, Van Jones; civil rights advocate and litigator, Michelle Alexander; economist, Julianne Malveaux; and friend and speech writer for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Dr. Vincent Harding. The result was a wide-ranging exploration of the hot-button issues facing America today, from economics, education and the law, to the cultural impact of mass media. Timely and rich in personal wisdom, Redefining Black Power connects the dots between past freedom struggles and the future of black civic and cultural life in the United States. Redefining Black Power [was] an important, historical rumination on race, class, power and politics in the Age of Obama. The conversations .are thoughtful, probing, nuanced insights into the state of African American political power at this historic moment. The book raises challenging questions, but rather than offer definitive answers, it provokes the reader to personally define Black power and inspires all of us to continue the work of deepening the meaning of democracy. --Wade Henderson, president and CEO of The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights Joanne Griffith is a superb journalist! She writes, speaks, and interviews with great skill, sincerity, and sensitivity...
