Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Elite Monthly, Vol. 2: March, 1909 But having fairly launched our little craft on the broad and somewhat tempestuous sea of journalism, be assured that we have not done so without a definite port in View, without an accurate compass, and an ever-vigilant pilot at the wheel. It has always been our effort to eliminate from our columns what may be un worthy of the consideration of an intelligent and refined reading public. Furthermore, we shall continue to expose, with no unhesitating voice, error, hypocrisy, and sham, whenever and wherever our searchlight may have fallen upon it. No claims of self-interest will be permitted to interfere with our speaking, as occasion demands, the plain, unvarnished truth. Our Monthly is the organ of no sect, party, or business interest. We are free - body and soul. It will be our further effort to put this paper before you in the most attractive garb possible. No pains will be spared to make it, from cover to cover, a thoroughly artistic creation. What ever the writers, the photographers, the illus trator, the printer, can effect, will be employed to enhance the attractiveness and value of our publication. Nor must we fail to call attention to our advertising columns. We have determined to keep them free from the objectionable in every form. In taking this step, we are performing a service both to the advertiser and the public. We are protecting our readers from imposition and fraud, and we are giving the stamp of merit to every firm whose name appears in our columns. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is...
