Excerpt: . . . 11 The mission of Naval District Washingtons security force is to secure good order and discipline within each installation, maintain-ing a safe environment for installation personnel to perform their assigned mission and to protect installation property within the in-stallation boundaries or fence line. Naval District Washingtons installation supports the Vice Presi-dents residence and one of our national clocks at the National Re-search Lab and Navy Test Pilot School and the U. S. Naval Acad-emy, to name just a few. Clearly, the professionals in the Naval District Washington secu-rity force perform a job vital to our national security. I am pleased to tell you that our Naval District Washington security force is well trained in its important mission. All officers receive basic training that covers a variety of topics needed to their jobs, including traffic law enforcement, radio communication, patrol procedures,...
