Excerpt from Abraham Lincoln in Periodical Literature, 1860-1940 The task Of gathering the magazine material that has been written about Abraham Lincoln into an intelligible index was undertaken with the full realization of the hazards presented. I can only hope that my answers to the peculiar problems presented in a project of this kind have been somewhere near correct. The first problem was to establish, if possible, the dividing line between the subject material about Lincoln and that dealing with Civil War politics and military affairs with which he was connected. How far could the lap of one over the other category be safely extended Secondly, would a comprehensive or selective list best serve the collector and reader interested in Lincolniana? Several years search has revealed an abundance of short poems of questionable quality and worth, short editorials, reprints in abundance of the Gettysburg address, the Bixby letter and other Lincoln classics, as well as hundreds of book reviews. Obviously, it would not be desirable or possible to include all this material if the listing was to be kept to...
