Henry B. Carrington, U. S. A., at the Reunion of the Society, at Marietta, Ohio, Sept. 19, 1879. Comrades of the Army of West Virginia: It is well to save for some future historian the record of all facts which marked the outbreak of the American Rebellion. There are times when noiseless work does much to prepare and ensure that more visible and emphatic action which fixes the destiny of a nation or race. Your society aims to secure and record all facts which gave to West Virginia its independence. The national record deals chiefly with the Federal call upon the States for troops and the conduct of those troops. The rescue of West Virginia from the first grasp of invasion has less distinctive mention, because the troops which first entered the field were not originally on the Roll of United States volunteers, but were Militia of Ohio. They did indeed quite generally re-enlist in the national service, and the government eventually recognized their early organization; but there was a brief period of grave and determining value, in which their action was as significant as when the campaign of 1861 matured and became a grand factor in the operations of the war. With all credit to those who have compiled the Ohio war record, it...
