THE JOURNEY OF ARDRO KNIGHT

Xlibris Corporation, United States, 2006. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This story, The journey of Ardro Knight is one of stark reality. It is a story for the millions who are, in one way or another, involved in the moral, social emotional and educational development of a Black Male. This story is not new!! Everybody knows it, but very few want to talk about it. This story is my attempt to explore the prime factors of the mysterious reality that fewer than 40 of the Black males who enter 9th grade in the US, graduate from high school four years later. Using a methodology the authors say is more accurate than many states employ, researchers, in a recent study, Confronting the Graduation Rate Crisis in the South, by the Harvard University Civil Rights Project, have recently reported data that conclude that the low rates of graduation for black males in the US are an educational and civil rights crisis The study tabulates high school graduation rates for 16 states and the District of Columbia. Black males were half as likely to graduate in four years as white Florida high school students. In 2002, just 38 percent of black males finished in that time Other studies* have verified: * That few school districts in the nation that have 10,000 or more black male students, have graduation rates at or above the national average for that group * That black males are more likely to be placed in Special Education classes. * That black males make up the lowest enrollment in advanced placement classes. * That black males in most school districts have the highest rate of out-of -school suspensions. * That black males comprise almost 80 of the..
