Excerpt from The Mentor, Vol. 2: June, 1892 At the age of twenty-two he was elected Chaplain Of Congress, the youngest man who has ever Opened his mouth on the ?oor Of either House, and was brought into friendly relations with the leading men Of the government at that day, some of them belonging to the second generation Of our statesmen under the Constitution. At the close Of his first term as chaplain he travelled through the country, and lived six years in Alabama. In 1853 he was elected chaplain Of Congress for the second time, and at the close of his term went to live in the-city Of New York, having added to his duties as a minister those Of a public lecturer. In 1857 he visited Europe for the first time, went again in 1868, once more in 1876, and for the last time in 1885, in all having spent several years abroad, and been brought in contact and friendly acquaintance with not a few men emi nent in letters, science, and politics as well as the Church, -thomas Carlyle, William Makepeace Thackeray, Dean Stanley, Sir Charles Lyell, and others of their rank. After thirty years he was again elected chaplain Of the House Of Representatives at Washington in 1885, and has held the position ever since. The slender vision which served him in boyhood and early manhood gradually faded out, and his path lay in total darkness. For between thirty and forty years a veil of sackcloth has been drawn across the sun and all which it illumines.
