

Agency Problems, Financial Contracting, and Predation (Classic Reprint) (Paperback)

By Researcher Department of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Patrick Bolton

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Agency Problems, Financial Contracting, and Predation We present a theory of predation and competition based on agency problems in financial contracting. To mitigate incentive problems, investors will threaten not to provide further financing if the firm s performance is poor. This encourages competitors to ensure that their rivals performance is indeed poor. Thus, an optimal contract balances the conflicting goals of deterring predation and providing incentives; predation may or may not occur in equilibrium. Our theory of rational predation differs from existing theories which view predation as an attempt to convince rivals that remaining in the industry is unprofitable; in our model, it is common knowledge that production in each period is profitable. The analysis suggests that studying the interaction between the capital and product markets can provide useful insights into both industrial organization and corporate finance. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst...

Reviews

A must buy book if you need to adding benefit. This is for anyone who statte that there had not been a well worth reading through. Its been designed in an exceptionally straightforward way which is simply right after i finished reading this book where basically changed me, change the way i think. -- Adrien Robel

This publication is definitely not effortless to get going on reading through but really exciting to read through. it was actually writtern really properly and beneficial. I am just very easily could get a delight of reading through a created publication. -- Gino Jerde Jr.

DMCA Notice | Terms