S. was known to the world as a writer, the name of Stevenson called to mind the lighthouses that guard the coast of Scotland and open in the dusk their flowers of fire. Twenty sentinels they stand, built upon rocks in the midst of angry seas, solidly defying the storms of the North while bearing mute testimony to the daring skill of their builders. It was from these brave men that Robert Louis Stevenson inherited his name and his courage. He wrote in Underwoods Say not of me that weakly I declined The labours of my sires and fled the sea, The towers we founded and the lamps we lit, To play at home with paper like a child. But rather say: In the afternoon of time A strenuous family dusted from its hands The sand of granite, and beholding far Along the sounding coast its pyramids And tall memorials catch the dying sun, Smiled well content, and to this childish task Around...
