Though in such a perilous situation, with his usual fortitude, he boldly re used to comply, declaring, that neither threats nor promises should ever induce him to abandon his duty. One of the party interfered, and said, he would not give his consent to murder the old man, as he must soon die, at any rate; but if they should catch his sons, they would wreak their vengeance on them, by the most exquisite tortures; and, raising his voice, he said, it was well known, that this old man had given greater assistance to the poor and distressed neighbours, without distinction of religion, than any other man in the county. However, they did not spare the most minute article of his property, carrying away whatever they thought proper, such as plate, cash, bank notes, beds, bedding, wearing apparel, linen, looking-glasses, books, &c., destroying the remainder on the spot; even the grates in his...
