Excerpt from Encyclopedia of Biography of Indiana, Vol. 2: Illustrated With Steel Plate and Copper Plate Engravings It is fit that the chief executive of a State should welcome to its capital the representatives of a church, of which it was said by an illustrious English philosopher more than two hundred years ago, the Baptists were from the beginning the friends of liberty; just and true liberty. A church that led the van in proclaiming the sacred right of individual judgment in matters pertaining to religious faith - a right called in the rugged phrase of the day when it was first proclaimed soul liberty - and planting that doctrine on American soil, following it up by causing to be inserted in the Constitution of the United States, by a concerted Baptist movement, those memorable words contained in the first amendment, congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. A free religion without help or hurt from the State was the motto of every Baptist. Your fathers sowed the seed and their descendants reap the harvest.
