Leclerc (Dies. III. de Scriptore Pentateuchi) and R. Simon (Hist. critique du Vieux Testament, livr. i. ch. 7) had previously pointed out the existence of two distinct documents in Genesis. M. Lenormant observes that while every verse of the Pentateuch has been discussed minutely and word by word with the view of determining its origin, the details of this necessary labour have become so complicated that only a professional critic can obtain a general view of its results. This induced him to undertake the present work, in order that the conclusions of the specialists might become more generally known, and, if his lamented death had not interrupted the project, he...
