Reviews

I just began reading this pdf. It is actually written in straightforward words instead of hard to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

And all things are teeming with life and with light, --That the whole of the house was thrown into affright, For no soul could conceive what was gone with the Knight! It seems he had taken A light breakfast--bacon, An egg--with a little broil d haddock--at most A round and a half of some hot butter d toast, With a slice of cold sirloin from yesterday s roast, And then--let me see!--He had two--perhaps three Cups (with sugar and cream) of strong Gunpowder tea, With a spoonful in each of some choice can de vie.--Which with nine out of ten would perhaps disagree.--In fact, I and my son Mix black with our Hyson, Neither having the nerves of a bull, or a bison, And both hating brandy like what some call pison. No matter for that--He had call d for his hat, With the brim that I ve said was so broad and so flat, And his specs with the tortoiseshell rim, and his cane With the crutch-handled top, which lie used to sustain His steps in his walks, and to poke in the shrubs And the grass, when unearthing his worms and his grubs--Tims arm d, he set out on a ramble--alack! He set out, poor dear Soul!--but he never came back. First dinner-bell rang Out its euphonious clang At five--foiks kept early hours then--and the Last Ding-dong d,...
