UNiverse. Paperback. Condition: New. 224 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.6in. The Donation is a medical thriller that dramatizes the shortage of organs available for transplantation. What if organ donation became a choice as a means of means of execution for prisoners on death row How would it affect the donor pool Would prisoners realize one last chance for redemption, to give something back to society And what about the physicians who find themselves cast in the role of executioners as they convert executions into surgical procedures, against the guidelines of the American Medical Association and the Hippocratic oath that urges them to do no harm A surgeons role is to bring order out of chaos. The chaos begins when a celebrity patient, Joseph Spencer, discovers he needs a heart transplant. While in the pre-operative holding area, Spencer sees his donor in an adjacent bed. Not only does he see him--he recognizes him. His sedation makes it impossible for him to protest what for him is an unimaginable horror, and he loses consciousness, unable to abort the procedure, even though to do so could cost him his life. Spencer survives the procedure but becomes suicidal. The transplant surgeon, Ross Fairing, discovers that he and his team have been unwitting co-conspirators in the death of the donor who had no business on an operating table, let alone be in a hospital. He confronts his own consternation that a courageous and innovative operation has created an ethical conundrum that could destroy his transplant program and his career. A shocking revelation at the end of the book turns a tragedy driven by one mans grief into an affirmation of life, releases Spencer from his suicidal torments, and returns him to the world of the living. Morality and medicine collide with the criminal justice system...
