Excerpt from The Civilian, Vol. 10: A Fortnightly Journal Devoted to the Interests of the Civil Service of Canada; June 22, 1917 When the original resolutions were under discussion, a prominent leader of opinion in a section of the Service declared, They are changing the wrong minimum, and argued the greater need of an increased initial salary is in the Third Division than in the Second The amendment to the proposition of the Government made provision for both. Men of the Second Division earning were not pleased with the original scheme. There was absolutely nothing in it for them except a. Loss of the seniority gained by four years work and experience. The concession of the $100 annual increase to the Second Division does not remove this anomaly, but it brightens the outlook for everybody in the Division and so all are more contented. It is note worthy that Sir Thomas White had this feature in his lamented bill of 1914. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
