The Other Son of God is the English version of Al norte de Dios (1994), the tenth novel by the renowned Ecuadorian writer, Nelson Estupinán Bass (1912-2002). The author situates the work within the realm of the fantastic, a move that enables him to give free rein to his imagination. The protagonist, Satan, is the son that God, in his youth, fathered with an African woman. While serving as God's aide-de-camp, Satan rebels and is banished to hell. The cause of the rebellion is Satan's belief that God has been giving preferential treatment to Satan's brother. The settings for the action are heaven, hell, and earth, and the characters include, among others, God, Jesus, the Blessed Virgin, and the Archangel Gabriel, who inhabit heaven; Satan and historical and biblical figures who reside in hell; and human inhabitants of earth. The action begins when God, disappointed with Jesus' failure to reform man during his stay on earth, sentences Jesus to one year in a prison in hell, summons his black son to heaven, and reassigns the task of man...
