THE LATTER-DAY SAINTS MILLENNIAL STAR, VOL. 96: MARCH 22, 1934 (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 96: March 22, 1934 The Scriptures tell us that without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. The faith of all intelligent beings is centered in God, and inasmuch as there is so much required of the individual in the way of sacrifice and service, the keeping of the commandments, the obedience to law, in order to obtain the goal of our existence - our aim being eternal life - we should have a perfect and correct conception of God, we should understand Him, His personality, His powers and attributes, and the relationship we sustain to Him. The world of mankind to-day is in great spiritual darkness with respect to this one important principle so necessary for men to believe in and understand, in order to obtain salvation. There has never been, I am sure, a greater need for anything among the children of man than the need, at the opening of this Gospel dispensation, of the revelation of the Father and the Son given to the boy Joseph Smith. To him they revealed themselves to be personages having bodies of flesh and bones and spirit, beautiful beings, immortal, glorified and exalted, in whose image man has been created and made. It was a revelation to the world, and a revelation to him because he was raised up of the Lord to accomplish a mighty work, and it was necessary that his faith be correctly grounded, that he should have a correct understanding of God the Eternal...
