Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Proceedings of the Twenty-First Annual Meeting, Vol. 18: Held at Atlantic City, New Jersey, June 25-28, 1918 This discussion on Cooperation in Industrial Research had its origin in a suggestion from Dr. John Johnston, Secretary of the National Research Council, and a member of this Society. In support of this suggestion Dr. Johnston submitted a written statement which impressed the writer so forcibly that he should like to quote from it as follows: One of the most striking consequences of the war is the increasing general realization of the primary importance of scientific research to the whole question of national defense, as well as to the successful prosecution of industry and the greatest measure of economy of resources after the war . . . Impressed by the paramount importance of promoting the application of science to industry in this country, the National Research Council has taken up the question of the organization of industrial research; it believes that this matter should be furthered in every way possible and as rapidly as may be for the...
