Ekklesia Press. Paperback. Condition: New. 82 pages. Dimensions: 7.8in. x 5.1in. x 0.2in. In 1912 Jesse Penn-Lewis noted from Genesis 3 that it was the serpent, not the woman, who was cursed: The serpent is cursed, but, in effect, the beguiled victim Eve is blest, for through her will come the Seed which will triumph over the devil and his seed; and through her will arise a new race through the promised Seed (Gen. 3: 15) . . . Henceforth it is also war by Satan upon the womanhood of the world, in malignant revenge for the verdict of the garden (War On the Saints). Church history reveals that Roman Catholicism and Protestantism taught and practiced forms of patriarchy that essentially sided with the evil ones disdain for females. Women were not allowed to function or speak in the church, were viewed as existing to serve males, and were seen as conduits of sin and error. John Calvin, for example, rashly affirmed Therefore all women are born to submit to the pre-eminence of the male sex . . . Let the woman be content in her position of subjection, and not feel indignant because she has to play second...

Reviews

This book might be worthy of a go through, and a lot better than other. it had been writtern really properly and helpful. You may like just how the author write this publication.
