We are all on a Journey, the Journey of the Heart. Some of us move forward with a clear and open heart, dwelling in the Place of Joy. Others fight every inch of the way, using others and blaming everyone but themselves for their sadness and/or unhappiness. Then, there are those who take everything they can from others to satisfy their own needs or meet their own goals. Our story centers around a young Indian girl named Sequoyah who began a very happy life with her family and close-knit community, very safe and secure. Sadly, her world was about to explode as the Indian Nation was on the verge of disaster as every effort was being made to annihilate The Red Man. Land has become the #1 commodity and the government wanted all of the land throughout The New World , regardless of who lived there. The Great Indian Nation was relentlessly persecuted by the Government, sending the army to clean up the problem at all costs. The government was prepared to do anything to clear the land of past residents in order to expand the settlements west. Our story begins just before the circumstances were preparing to boil over. A great war loomed. This is the first of many books soon to be printed and ready for sharing with all.
