Thomas Hale and his wife Thomasine, or Tamosin, and son Thomas, came to Newbury in 1635, according to both Savage and Coffin. They were probably of the party who first settled in that town in that year, on the banks of the Quascacunquen, or Parker River, though his name is not included among those mentioned by Coffin as forming the first colony, with a few others whose names are not known with certainty. Coffin supposes him to have been the son of William Hale, Esq., of King s Walden, Herts, England, born at that place, May 15, 1606. The birth and baptism of this Thomas appear on the family records at King s Walden, but no further entry is found there touching his life or death. No sufficient proof is found to establish conclusively the identity of Thomas of Newbury with this Thomas of Kings Walden, though facts are known to make such identity probable. The question is still under investigation, and the English...
