It purports to be an extract from an Address delivered by E. D. Mansfield, of Cincinnati, to the students of the Military Academy at West Point. Such paragraphs are admirably adapted to nourish and cherish the war-spirit. While our orators speak thus, war will always be popular, and young wouldbe officers, and their fathers, will long for it as a means of promotion: Of about three hundred members of this Institution who have served in the recent campaigns in Mexico, Twenty-six have either been killed in battle, or died in the campaign with the Army. Some of these died in far distant California, where the waves of the Pacific dash their waters against the rocks of the Northern Andes; some fell on the hard-fought plains of Palo Alto, and Resaca de la Palma; some before the frowning...

Reviews

An exceptional ebook along with the typeface employed was intriguing to see. It really is simplistic but surprises within the fifty percent of the ebook. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
