CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 154 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.0in. x 0.5in. This book features a contemporary look at the art world. . . . and flash backs to the Nazi era when art was plundered by Hitler's minions in Europe. The main character, a strikingly good looking man in his 50s, a former West Point graduate and athlete, becomes the head of an arts foundation created by his Father's estate. During the reading of his father's will, he learns the entire Wall Street generated fortune is left to create an arts foundation naming him as President. The only tangible thing left to him is a tattered envelope containing a map with a Nazi insignia, Hitler's signature and pages torn from his father's WW II war time diary. Later as the main character begins to hire staff for the foundation, he meets the daughter of a former East German Stasi agent, a most attractive woman in her late 30s. After she is hired as his personal assistant and using the Nazi map, they begin the search which leads them to long lost treasures from the war. Their journey takes them to a small village on the border of Germany and Austria plus trips to St. Petersburg, Russia; Vienna, Austria; Savannah, GA. ; Washington D. C. and other destinations. Central to the theme is the possible discovery of the whereabouts of the Amber Room which was stolen...

Great electronic book and useful one. It can be written in straightforward terms rather than difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
