At that meeting the organization was completed; for, having considered the matter maturely in advance, we were prepared to adopt a constitution and by-laws, drawn up by me with care, the original draft of which I have the pleasure of presenting to-night to the society. In order to make these fundamental instruments as complete as possible, I obtained printed or written copies of the constitutions and laws of all the Historical Societies I was able to reach by correspondence, and digested them in consultation with Mr. John P. Kennedy and our late Recording...
