Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 26 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.1in. Excerpt from Bulletin of Columbia Theological Seminary, Vol. 22: July, 1929 Egyptian, Syrian, Latin, etc. These versions bring the total manuscript evidence into other thousands. No one scholar, however industrious, is able to cope with all the mass of New Testament evidence. One must build upon the labors of the other. Magnificent work has been done in the past. The most decisive labors in this department were performed before 1888 by those great textual scholars, Tischendorf, Tregelles, Westcott, Hort, and others. So well was this work done that Hort could write in his introduction to the edition of the New Testament published in 1881 by himself and Dr. Westcott, that the amount of what can in any sense be called substantial variation from the original words can hardly form more than a thousandth part of the entire text. God has been wonderfully good in making the text of our New Testament so sure to us. But New Testament students are not content to let the matter rest here. The work of Textual Criticism has continued since the time of Westcott and Hort. New manuscript evidence has been discovered, known manuscript evidence which was not at that time available has been compiled, and the world is waiting today for some scholar or group of scholars to give the students of the New Testament a new edition of Tischendorf's monumental compilation of textual evidence, which will embody all more recent findings. Textual criticism is one of the most exact of sciences. It works with almost mathematical precision. Every minister ought to know at least the principles of Textual Criticism. He ought to know enough to be able to judge for himself exactly...
