To whom the unembodied spirit goes; Safely he ventures thro the darksome way, The destind passage to eternal Day, Hopes in his God, nor finds that hope deceivd But is by him to endless bliss receivd, And crown'd with glory which can never fade, JJnjoys in Heaven that God he here obeyd. LETTER V. Jo Mr. B IN such lively colours do you paint the rural beauties of nature, and the happiness resulting from the study and enjoyment of them, that tis scarce possible to read the expressive description, without sickening at the thought of a confinement to this noisy metropolis, and longing to share your calm and improving retirement. Happy is your friend in a companion so qualified to point out all that can in every scene either delight...
