SECOND BLOOM (PAPERBACK)

CASCADE BOOKS, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. In Second Bloom, Silver looks unflinchingly and honestly at the suffering of cancer, while at the same time celebrating the possibility of joy, the persistence of beauty and love, the simultaneous winnowing and comfort of faith. These poems are contemplative and often personal, but reach out to the world as a whole: from IV poles to hula hoops, from riding a roller coaster with one's son to comforting a dying friend at Christmas. The poems glean their subject matter from ordinary life, from art, from the natural world. Silver's poetry attempts to preserve the world's luminous moments and to hold grace and despair simultaneously in the human heart. At the heart of these new poems is a longstanding determination to make the most of time, and of mind, and of the immediate surround--whether that immediacy is comprised of grief, or of joy, or of perplexity. The deep, bass note here is attend! The developing hunger is holiness. --Scott Cairns, author of Slow Pilgrim: The Collected Poems To bloom is so foolish / that it must be wisdom, Anya Silver writes, in poem after stunning poem about living with cancer and still finding words to praise this beautiful and ephemeral world. These are the bravest poems you'll ever read, by a woman at the top of her artistic game. Even though she knows that winter is coming, Silver's words put out fresh green shoots. These poems will crack open your heart. --Barbara Crooker, author of Les Fauves and Barbara Crooker: Selected Poems In lines saturated with colors and delicious with sneaky rhymes, in elegies and ekphrastic poems, in liturgical poems and hymns to ordinary things in ordinary time--a slinky green dress, a son s...
